

APPLICATIO Training & Management GmbH

---

As of mid of 2014 APPLICATIO will offer once again open training courses on topics of interest for development cooperation practitioners. The offers include courses with a duration of two to five days as well as study tours and Academies. All offers are especially designed for development cooperation experts and those that want to enter the sector.

The offers concentrate on the most important skills in general and with regard to special sectors that any expert in development cooperation will need on a day-to-day basis. In addition APPLICATIO offers study tours or Academies with a duration of at least five days especially for local experts in the partner countries of development cooperation who want to upgrade their skills and contribute even more to their projects .

Courses are implemented in the Seminar Centre of APPLICATIO, while study tours also include visits to companies and organisations. APPLICATIO will be happy to assist in booking of accommodation for courses, while accommodation is included in study tours already. All courses and tours are implemented in English (special German versions available on request for full groups).

All courses are implemented by highly experienced expert with at least 10 years of experience in development cooperation and all offers are especially designed for development cooperation experts so that participants can immediately make use of the newly gained skills. Group sizes of 10 to 12 participants guarantee for practical training.

Apart from scheduled offers interested participants can also state interest for non-scheduled courses and will be informed as soon as a course can be scheduled. .